• FIRST- OR 2ND-TIME MARATHONERS ONLY: DM is strictly for first- and second-time marathoners only. Running more than one official marathon anytime prior to race day (even the last week before the race) leads to automatic disqualification. Runners who have completed an official ultramarathon (above 42km) or an official full Ironman distance triathlon anytime prior to race day are prohibited from joining the race. We expect full transparency and honesty from each participant upon registering for the event. Any participant who fails to comply with this rule will be disqualified and/or removed from official results should proof arise before or after event day. No refund will be given.

• COMPLIANCE: Participants are required to follow instructions from all event officials including organizers, race marshals, volunteers, medical staff, and security personnel during the event. Any participant who refuses to follow race officials may be disqualified.

• CONDUCT: Participants should conduct themselves in a respectable and courteous manner during the event. A participant who is offensive to organizers, staff, volunteers, participants or spectators may be disqualified from the event.

• AUTHORIZATION ON COURSE: Only registered participants, registered pacers, registered Dream Chasers, and authorized event staff are allowed on the course. No person shall be allowed to accompany a participant if he/she is not registered in the event, nor shall any participant be allowed, without permission from the organizer, to receive assistance from anyone during the event. Any person without authorization will be asked to leave the course. Any participant who received support from unauthorized personnel may be disqualified.

• RACE BIB: Participants must pin the race bib visibly on the shirt. The personalized race bib will allow for spectators and Dream Chasers to call you by name.

• TIMING DEVICE: Official time will be based on an RFID Timing Chip attached to the race bib enclosed in the Race Kit. The timing chip must be secured by the participant to the laces of his/her shoe. Failure to attach the chip will mean no official results.

• BAGGAGE: Runners are advised to leave valuables at home. The race organizer will not be responsible for any lost items in the parking or race area. There will be a baggage counter at the GoWell Dream Village.

• PARKING: Nuvoli has provided limited parking near Camp N. TBR will provide a shuttle to take runners from Solenad to Camp N, but it is highly recommended that runners carpool from Solenad or Evolving parking lot to the starting line to avoid long waiting times for the shuttle after the race.

• COURSE: The Official Course map is provided in this Race Kit and online at www.tbrdream.com. Organizers reserve the right to change the course anytime before the race and will advise runners of any changes. Runners are responsible for familiarizing themselves with the course.

• AUTHORIZATION ON COURSE: Only registered participants, registered pacers, registered Dream Chasers, and authorized event staff are allowed on the course. No person shall be allowed to accompany a participant if he/she is not registered in the event, nor shall any participant be allowed, without permission from the organizer, to receive assistance from anyone during the event. Any person without authorization will be asked to leave the course. Any participant who receives support from unauthorized personnel may be disqualified.

• HYDRATION: Water and Gatorade stations will be provided every 1.5km to 2.5km.

• PUMPED UP STATIONS: There will be two “Pumped Up Stations” along the route with Active Health gel, sponges, ice, bananas, chocolates, petroleum jelly, muscle spray along with water and Gatorade.

• MEDICAL AID: Medical aid will be available at the Start / Finish area, junction, and Km 36. Aid stations with a Medic will be available at every other hydration station providing basic First Aid. Runners who feel ill or any kind of discomfort are advised to stop and get medical assistance immediately.

• PORTALETs: Portalets will be available at the Start / Finish area and designated areas of the race course. (See Course Map)

• DREAM CHASERS: Four (4) Dream Chaser Stations will be available along the route. Dream Chasers, experienced runners/volunteers, will cheer, support, and run a few kilometers with runners who request.

• DREAM MOBILE: During the race, a van will take families and friends around the route to cheer for their runners. The Dream Mobile loading/unloading station is near the GoWell Dream Village. No other spectators or support will be allowed on the route except those allowed by organizer.

• BAND: A live band will be playing at certain periods at the junction. The band will also play at 7AM in the Dream Village.

- TRASH BAGS: Help keep the environment clean. Trash bags will be available at water stations for proper disposal of cups.

- PHOTOS: Photos of runners will be taken during the race, upon crossing the finish line, and after the finish line by Photo Ops. Photos will be available online a week after the race.

- MEDALS: At TBR Sun Life Dream Marathon, every finisher is a winner. Medals will be awarded to each finisher. There will be no prizes for top finishers.

- FINISHERS’ SHIRTS: Finishers’ shirts will be given to Finishers at the GoWell Dream Village. Shirt sizes are subject to availability. Non-finishing participants will not be allowed to claim Finishers’ shirts.

- SWAG BAGS: Swag bags will be given to all Finishers. Non-finishing participants will be allowed to claim swag bags only on event day.

- FOOD: Free breakfast with Sun Made Brown Rice will be provided to Finishers and pacers at the GoWell Dream Village. Several Solenad Restaurants will be open by 6:30 AM.

- CANCELLATION POLICY: After registration, the organizer will not allow refunds for those who do not eventually participate in TBR Sun Life Dream Marathon for any reasons whatsoever. Registration fee is NON-REFUNDABLE and NON-TRANSFERABLE.

FINISHING TIME: We will be strictly implementing a beginner-friendly race cut off time to ensure the safety of our runners. The organizer reserves the right to pull athletes from the course, at any time, for their own safety. Cut off time is 4.5 hours from gun start for 21km mark and 9 hours from gun start for 42km. This will be strictly implemented.

- SUBSTITUTION POLICY: After registration, the organizer will not allow for the use of the race bib by a runner other than the registered participant. A runner caught using a race bib on event day under a different name will be disqualified and will not be included in the official results.

- CERTIFICATES: Certificates will be emailed to all finishers one month after the race. Runners who fail to receive the emailed certificate may follow up until March 30, 2018 only. Should you fail to receive yours, please email tbrdream@gmail.com.

- WEATHER: The event takes place rain or shine.

- MISCELLANEOUS: The organizer reserves the right to change Rules and Regulations at any time without prior notice to the participants.

DREAM CHASERS are runners, mostly composed of TBR Dream Alumni, who volunteer to pace, motivate, and support the TBR Dream Runners during the race as an act of “paying it forward” to first-time marathoners and to the rest of the running community. This is a unique feature of TBR Dream Marathon.

There will be four (4) Dream Chaser stations along the route.

SCOPE OF RESPONSIBILITIES OF A DREAM CHASER:

1. From the assigned Station to the next, run with a random group of TBR Dream participants or a particular participant with an apparent need to be paced.
2. Provide creative and positive means of motivation, encouragement, and enthusiasm that will buoy the will of TBR Dream participants during the race.
3. Assist in providing hydration to any participant in need.
4. Alert the Medical team and Course Manager of any participant needing outright medical / first aid attention.

* Tent Heads
1. Get good quality sleep on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday night before the marathon. You won’t get much sleep on Saturday but it won’t affect your run if you are well-rested before the weekend.

2. For your first marathon (and the same could be said for your future marathons, as well), what’s important is not how you start but how you finish. So watch your pace very closely during the first 10K. Stick to your plan and take more walk breaks if you find yourself going out too fast. Aim to finish with gas left in your tank.

3. Remember your nutrition plan. Don’t get carried away and neglect your need to consume calories during the race. Most runners get by on 100-150 calories every hour but feel free to eat more if you feel hunger pangs. Poor nutrition has been known to derail even the best laid marathon plans.

4. Don’t wear anything new on race day. Wear your most trusted shirt, shorts, underwear and pair of socks and shoes. The average runner wears his marathon gear for about 8 hours total. You’ll wear them dry and you’ll wear them soaking wet. So make sure you’re wearing something that feels good and looks good on you!

5. A lot of people eat dinner on Saturday night and then don’t eat again until they cross the finish line. Mostly because of nerves. I strongly advise that you eat something (a piece of bread, half a sandwich, an apple or banana or crackers) 2 hours before the gun start. You have a run to focus on. Hunger at 3am will only distract you from your goal.

6. Stay off of your feet while waiting for the marathon to start. You’ll already be making huge demands on your feet to carry you through 42.195 KMS starting at 2am. You don’t want to make them do a lot of extra work before then. So if you get to the venue early, then find a place where you can sit, stretch your legs and relax. And think about how good that medal will look around your neck in a few hours.
As you maybe have noticed when a top runner leaves their home country (say Kenya) and flies to the US for the NYC Marathon, they will arrive at least a week or so ahead of the race to allow their bodies to adjust to the new time zone. After all, a 5, 6, 7 hours or more time difference can truly “throw off” the body’s natural circadian rhythms that play a major factor in bodily processes and peak energy levels.

To make sure each of you is optimally ready for race day, we need to take a page from the world class runner’s playbook. And that means adjusting your body for the time differences. Why is this you ask?

For heat purposes, the START of the race is 2 am. For I would assume 99% of our runners, this represents a shift 4 or 5 hours from “normal” morning running time. This is hence equivalent to any of us getting on a plane and running the Athens, Greece Marathon! Whilst the race may be in NUVALI, with the time of the start, it is equal to your body to traveling to Europe for a race!

I strongly believe shifting the starting time is right to do. And we will get the body adjusted, no issue. We just need to work a plan in the final 7 days.

WHAT DO WE NEED TO SPECIFICALLY ADAPT WITH OUR BODIES?

To deliver a peak race day, we shall need to make sure we are “up” in terms of waking so that we can begin a marathon at 2 am and our bodies are ready for it. This means specifically for us:

- Waking time, and all kinds of various hormone levels (melatonin, Estrogen, Testosterone levels) that impact energy and metabolism.
- Bodily functions, specifically digestive and when your bowels move (this is a very important subject nobody ever wants to talk about but most runners worry about—being “cleaned out” before the race so you don’t have to make frequent CR visits!)
- Food intake.

WHAT DO WE NEED TO DO?

We shall try to get you into a GRADUAL acclimatization without disrupting your life too much. But please be forewarned to do this right it will maybe mean a couple of days of irritation.

Sorry!

1. Starting Monday, the week before the race, I would like you to advance your wake up time by 1 hour. So if you normally wake at 7 am, I want you to push it to 6 am. Also advance as a result all meals by the same 1 hour. So if dinner is normally at 6 pm, move it to 5 pm. And that night, plan to be in bed 1 hour earlier than normal. Everything advances by 1 hour.

2. Tuesday I would like you to execute the SAME thing. Advance everything another hour.

3. Wednesday and Thursday, SAME THING. Advance 1 more hour. So far you should be doing OK with this.

4. Friday and Saturday are going to be the tougher days. We need to make the final transition into getting your body, and bowels, all on a 2 am cycle. So even if you want (or can) take Friday off work, DO IT. It is also good to rest up the day before the race anyways.

5. On Friday, please try to rise at 2 am. Eat breakfast and go about your day. This would be a final small jog, and if you can, please get out and be running if even only for 15 or 20 minutes, nice and slow, at no later than 5 am. Assuming it is safe in your neighborhood to run that early. This would be your final run, just a small tune up for 20 minutes max.

6. On Saturday, we need to make full transition. Please get to bed no later than 6 pm the night
A. Do I really need to do this? Well anyone can argue “no” and they can be right. It is possible of course to go about your life, and just “gut it out” by rising 6 to 7 hours earlier than normal, on no sleep, and run a marathon. But if you do this, there is little doubt that physiologically it will be tough on the body. This is equal to a shift to EUROPE for a race on your body. Your sleep patterns, energy patterns, eating and bowels will be all “off”. And it will affect you. This is fact. It may not stop you from running OK or finishing, but it will hit you. At the end of the day, it is a personal choice. But Jaymie and I have an obligation to give you all the facts, and let you decide. If this was me, knowing what I know, and having run many marathons in different time zones, I would do this. Nothing worse than standing at a start line half dead and then have to stop in 3 kilometers because my bowels are all off. But again we are there to help you, and you make the final decision.

B. Bowels. This always makes me laugh, because it is one of the MOST WORRISOME topics in racing and nobody ever wants to talk about it. What’s the issue folks? We all know that we all need to poop! So let’s talk about it! As running long distances shortens what is called “intestinal transit time” meaning the time a stool moves through the intestines, it is not uncommon to have to make a CR stop in a marathon. And we will have CR’s on the course for you. My advice is the following on “potty breaks”:

• Try to train your bowels for the timing of the race. A bowel movement early morning is quite normal as the body wakes up. As long as you shift the internal clock as per above, and shift your meals accordingly, you should be ok and able to evacuate prior to the race.
• DO NOT take any kind of medicines to “stop you up”. It can do more harm than good and make you feel very sick and bloated. And affect your hydration levels. Don’t do it.
• Also some people, to be sure, will also do an enema before the marathon. DON’T DO IT. This can also cause dehydration and even loose stools during the race.
• When you are in the race, and you can “feel it coming”, become aware of how long you can go, and where the next CR is. Use your first loop of Nuvail to spot all the CR’s so you know where they are for loop 2. Become a bit strategic about it! It will all work out in your head, and we will have CR’s placed around the course. Don’t worry! And at least you won’t be like me in Paris a few years ago…..I had to go, and went into a bar, and the man would not let me use the CR without buying something, so I actually bought a beer and ran to the CR! In the TBR Dream Marathon, rest assured you can use our toilets free, without the beer!

C. For Ladies Only. A common question is how to handle a marathon if the date happens to fall on during the menstrual cycle. You might be wondering why Jim, a man, is answering this. The answer is, because we know it is a common question yet again, nobody seems to want to talk about it. I have 3 female marathoners in my household (wife and 2 Daughters, 30 marathons among the 3 of them) and also worked on feminine protection products for 20 years and I have coached several thousand women so this is not the first time talking this. So here is all I can offer up, but again it is clearly a personal choice. The overwhelming product of choice is a tampon for security and comfort. Of all the people I have coached, the consensus BY FAR is tampons are the best way to run whilst on your period. Now, recognizing many people for many reasons don’t use or want to use a tampon, the fallback seems to be the use of a high quality pantiliner vs. a full pad. The issue is, a larger pad can be a source of irritation over 42 kilometers. But again, it’s a personal choice and this is only advice to be helpful.

OK, that’s it. Good luck and see you on race day.
TBR SUN LIFE DREAM MARATHON in NUVALI is a family-affair. We encourage family and friends to provide support and cheer for our runners on this momentous occasion.
